

Bio-Medical Technology: McKinley will draw on Washington's bio-medical community, including major medical institutions, pharmaceutical and biotechnology firms, to create a curriculum reflecting the latest developments in bio-medical technology. McKinley Students will participate in internships with biotechnology companies like Novigen and Bioscan, medical centers like Howard and Georgetown, and pharmaceutical firms like Merck and Pfizer, while these organizations will use McKinley's conference facilities to host meetings, conferences, and presentations.

Bio-medical Technology Companies

- |  |  |
|--|--|
| 1. ASM Resources Inc.  | 9. Glaxo Wellcome  |
| 2. American Institute for Medical and Biological Engineering | 10. Howard University Hospital                               |
| 3. American Medical Association                              | 11. Medpharm   |
| 4. American Society for Microbiology                         | 12. Merck  |
| 5. BioScan   | 13. Novartis   |
| 6. Biotechnology Industry Organization                       | 14. Novigen Sciences   |
| 7. Georgetown University Medical Center                      | 15. Pfizer   |
| 8. The George Washington University Medical Center           | 16. The Pharmaceutical Research and Manufacturers of America |